Letter

The personality of “teacher of nations” Jan Ámos Komenský is a permanent inspiratory source for all types of creators of all kinds of art. The authors are usually concerned with his great pieces and they are trying to transform the great thinker's thoughts by their own expression means according to the concrete kind of art. I didn't want to do it the same way and I used the letter which J. A. Komenský wrote for his wife in exile in February 1622 and its content is very intimate.
