

Josef Marek

author's text

Homines sumus, non Dei (Iuvenalis)

Since I have realized (and it has been already many years!) that people cannot be helped (what a cheerless discovery) I was looking for some reason that causes this awe-some reality. Than I reached an opinion that people - among others - read a little and when they finally read they obviously don't perceive what they have read. Hereat our ancestors wrote down so many advices. So I came to a conclusion to musicalize some of that wisdom and perhaps through this form I could help someone. Oh, how naive I was.

Josef Marek